

Registration Instructions

Thank you for purchasing Saving Social Security – A Commonsense Approach to Finding a Permanent Solution. Registration of each eBook copy is required to ensure that the book you read is authentic and has not been altered by others and then redistributed.

Registration is a simple three step process.

- 1) Open your eBook copy of Saving Social Security; you will see a pop-up registration screen. Copy down your user ID# _____ (print this page and record the number in the blank or save it somewhere safe. This is an important number that you will need should your book somehow be lost and a replacement copy is requested), now highlight this number and click both your “control” key and the “c” key on your keyboard to save the number, once completed close the book.
- 2) Open the purchase confirmation email you received from bruce@savingsocialsecurity.net and click reply (or write a new email to this address), in the subject line write the words “Registration ID Request,” and in the body of the message paste (if saved) or type your ID# and click send.
- 3) Within 24 hours of sending your email (step 2) you will receive your unique registration number by return e-mail. When you get the email, copy the registration number (either highlight and click “control c” as you did above or write it down), close your email and reopen the book, now either paste or type the registration number in the box provided on the pop-up screen and click the register button (Note. you will need to be connected to the internet when you do this for the registration to be completed) and you’re done. You should now be able to read the book.

You only need to register the first time you attempt to read the book, once registered you can close and open the book at will. Don’t forget, the bookmark button contains links to other sites where you can go and get more information on Social Security and reports referenced in the book.

Should you have any problems, comments or require a replacement copy of Saving Social Security (eBook), email bruce@savingsocialsecurity.net. If requesting a replacement book please write in the subject line of the email “Request for Replacement,” and in the body of the text please provide the invoice ID number found on your order confirmation email, your eBook user ID number (Item #1 above) and the date of your purchase (if known). If printing this page, for convenience, record your invoice number and purchase date below.

Invoice Number: _____; Purchase Date: _____

Again, thank you for your purchase. I trust you will find the book informative and hope that you will join me in opposing unnecessary Social Security tax increases, benefit reductions and means testing, or the introduction of private accounts by writing your congressional representatives.
